

Christian Morgenstern,
The Banshee (An Approach)
tradukita de Max Knight

One night, a banshee slunk away from mate and child, and in the gloom went to a village teacher's tomb, requesting him: "Inflect me, pray."

The village teacher climbed up straight upon his grave stone with its plate and to the apparition said who meekly knelt before the dead:

"The banSHEE, in the subject's place;
 the banHERS, the possessive case.
 The banHER, next, is what they call objective case—and that is all."

The banshee marveled at the cases and writhed with pleasure, making faces, but said: "You did not add, so far,
 the plural to the singular!"

The teacher, though, admitted then that this was not within his ken.
 "While bans are frequent", he advised,
 "A she cannot be plurified."

The banshee, rising clammily, wailed: "What about my family?"
 Then, being not a learned creature, said humbly "Thanks" and left the teacher.

Christian Morgenstern,
Varulven
tradukita de Sven Collberg

En varulv lopp från fru m.m. en vacker aften samt begav sig till en bymagisters grav och bad: "Var snäll och konjugera.

mig!" Byskolläraren stod upp på blecknamnsskyltens mässingknopp med svar till den, som satt på pass med tåligt korslagd tass på tass.

"Jag var-ulv 1:a pers. i sing., du, han, hon, den, det var-ulv. Så vi voro-ulv, I voren. På de voro-ulv kom ingenting."

Varulven myste glad åt hur pers. hade följts av sing. och plur.
 "Fast", bad han, "kan det inte ges ens en enda pers. i tempus presens?"

Bekänna måste vår magister, att därvidlag fanns vissa brister.
 En varulv sine imperfecto var contradictio in adjecto.

Varulven satt med tårad lins.
 Han visste att han fanns och finns.
 Därtill kom också fru m.m.
 som även måste existera.
